Tower Thieves, Ee Says.

"I believe that the three men who robked this station," said Chief of Police Galloway, of Morristown, to-day, "are the ones who have committed the robberies through Pennsylvania and New Jensey. I suspect that they committed all the telegraph tower robberies. I think they must be working their way toward New York, where criminals of their sort can hide in safety.

"Langwith has a police record. I don't know how he became so expert at opening safes. He has been convicted in the Oranges for assault and fighting. We will hold him here for some time."

"Langwith is a smooth article, He was not here in time to take part in the robbery of the station, but in my opinion he was the brains of the men who did commit the robbery. The soo-eninion he was the brains of the me who did commit the robbery. The sobbery, as far as I can learn, was committed by three men; all of whom are young and had the appearance of being young and had the appearance of being tramps. The older-looking man who entered the station and said he wanted something to eat was probably made up to play the part. Pier did not get a good look at him and in my opinion tired and travel-stained. We have lue to the three men which may lead to their arrests."

Langwith was about to board a train at Morristown for New York when he was asked what he knew about the robbery.

"What do you think I am?" he asked off a job like that, and me the swiftes man in the country with a safe? You pome here with me and I will make good on my boast."

ERY ONE is aware that the price of Diamonds has advanced greatly, both in Amsterdam and New York. If you are looking to purchase Diamonds at bargain prices, surely you can not get them from houses who claim to be importers. It is a fact known throughout the United States that we advance money and buy unset Diamonds from those who are pressed for ready cash at tremendous sacrifices; in this way we are able to sell them to the public at prices less than regular dealers pay for them. Our name is a household word throughout the United States; we are known as the greatest AMERICAN DIAMOND CUTTERS; not of rough Diamonds, BUT OF PRICES—which is what the public appreciates. For carfare you can behold the largest stock of Diamonds in the country; thousands of beautiful jewels in every conceivable design fill our cases, making an exhibition worth coming many miles to see.
